ADVERTISERS.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.
William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with BLEEDING and lost my appetite entirely, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a Friend said "DR. D. L. WILLIAMS, of Boston, has a remedy for this disease." I got a bottle when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than for three years past. I write this hoping some one afflicted with Bleeding Lung will take Dr. Williams' Remedy. It is a safe remedy, and I am convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I can positively say it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness.

PITH OF THE CHINESE QUESTION.

As the Democracy hated the negro in the days of yore, even so is the measure of its present hatred to the "little brown man" from China. It is not to be understood that this hatred is malicious and genuine; on the contrary, it is simply a make-believe, Pickwickian sentiment. Just now the man from the Yellow Sea is an object of peculiar and absorbing interest to the politicians of both parties, because he is the disturbing element in the social economy of the Pacific States. Now that these States have secured legislation on the Chinese question—have limited his coming hither for a time—the Democracy of California are disposed to go their Republican brethren "one better." If, as the Washington National Republican puts it, the Republicans will limit Chinese immigration, the Democrats will prohibit it; if the Republicans will prohibit, they will expel; if the Republicans will expel, they will kill; and finally, if the Republicans will kill, also, they will draw, quarter and burn. In the simple business of hating the Chinese, the "Democrats" would seem to have resolved to go the Republicans one better.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Housekeepers who buy fruit and vegetables from Chinese peddlers should understand that these commodities are stored in filthy dens in Chinatown, under the bunks in which the peddlers sleep, and are usually covered by dirty stockings and other articles of wearing apparel. This is no fancy sketch. The police, on a recent raid in the San Francisco Chinatown, discovered just this state of things. Housekeepers who value their health and comfort will not buy vegetables and fruit from Chinamen.

Louisiana is troubled by glucose as much as dairying regions are by oleomargarine, and the Legislature of that State has passed a law on the subject modeled after the bogus butter statutes. It merely provides that glucose, when sold in the form of sugar or syrup, shall be marked for what it is, and that cane sugar adulterated with it shall be similarly distinguished. Now it remains to enforce the law.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

— Joachio Roff, the composer and pianist, is dead.

— The Jersey City strikers are still holding out for advanced wages.

— Edwin Booth had a fine reception last night. He appeared as Richelieu.

— The bark Wild Hunter, from Boston, for Reval, Russia, cotton laden, was burned at sea.

— About 300 girls, employed by the Columbia Rubber Company at Boston, have struck against a reduction of wages.

— Five gamblers, sentenced to six months' imprisonment at St. Louis, have been pardoned by Governor Crittenden.

— Michael Davitt left Philadelphia last night for Chicago. He had a large and enthusiastic audience at his lecture there.

— The Pennsylvania railroad officers state that the majority of their freight-handlers who were on a strike have returned to work.

— An uneasy feeling continues to prevail along the Suez Canal. It is rumored that a number of cases containing explosives, accompanied by men in uniform, arrived at Ishmaili.

— Since the suicide of Chas. Gummer, Receiving Teller of the Bank of California, San Francisco, it has transpired that the deceased was a defaulter to a very large amount, said to be $100,000.

— Patrick Egan, at Paris, telegraphs Patrick Ford that landlords, through a company with a large capital, propose to banish the Irish tenant and get English and Scotch farmers to take their places. This, the dispatch says, means war to the death.

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

A DEAD MAN'S DIARY.

Extracts from Lieutenant De Long's Journal, Showing How He and His Companions Starved to Death in the Arctic.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Wednesday, 12th—Breakfast on last spoonful of glycerine and hot water, and for dinner a couple of handfuls of Arctic willow in a pot of water, and drank the infusion; every day getting weaker and weaker, and hardly able to get firewood; gale with snow; unable to move; no game; one spoonful of glycerine and hot water for food; no more wood in our tent.

WEAKER AND WEAKER.

Tuesday, 11th—Gale with snow; unable to move; no game; one spoonful of glycerine and hot water for food; no more wood in our tent.

WASHINGON, June 26.—The Navy Department is in receipt of a report from Engineer Meiville, giving in detail the story of his search for De Long and party and the discovery of their dead bodies. The following extracts are from De Long's note book:

Under date of Monday, October 3d, De Long writes that the party thought they saw a hut, but upon reaching the spot they found only a mound. A camp was made in a hole in the bluff, and a roaring fire was soon drying and burning their clothes, while a cold wind ate into their backs.

Nothing was left to eat but their dog, which was killed and dressed, and a stew made of such parts as could not be cured. All took the stew except De Long. Alexy was sent to examine what they thought was a hut, and came back at night with a favorable report. It was decided to wait until morning before leaving. It was then below zero. A watch was set to keep the fire from going out, and all huddled around, and thus a night without sleep was passed. If Alexy had not wrapped his sealkin around De Long and kept him warm by the heat of his body, he (De Long) thinks he would have perished, as he was steamed and shivered. At 8 A. M. the party reached a hut large enough to hold them, and for the first time since Saturday they managed to get warm. Erickson was very low, and prayers were read for him before the others sought rest. At 10 A. M. all except Alexy had lain down to sleep. Alexy went off to hunt, and at noon returned wet, having fallen into the river. At 6 P. M. they roused up.

SHORT RATIONS.

Dog meat for each person and a cup of tea were the day's allowance, but they were so grateful that they were not exposed to the terrible storm which was raging that they did not mind the short rations. On Wednesday they had tea and dog meat for breakfast.

Alexy again went off hunting, and came back with nothing. On Thursday they had a cup of third-hand tea, with half an ounce of alcohol in it. Alexy was again sent out to hunt, and Erickson died while he was gone.

Tuesday—Calm and mild; snow falling; buried Alexy in afternoon; laid him on the ice and covered him with slabs of ice.

Wednesday—Cutting up tent to make foot-gear; Doctor went ahead to find new camp; shifted by dark.

Thursday—Bright and sunny, but very cold; Lee and Knack done up.

Friday—Knack was found dead about midnight between the Doctor and myself; Lee died about noon; read prayers for Knack when we found him.

Saturday—Drossler died during the night.

Tuesday, October 30th, 140th day—Boyd and Gorth died during the night; Mr. Collins dying. [Note. This is the end of De Long's diary.]

De Long, Surgeon Ambler and Ah Sam, the cook, must have died soon after the last note was written.

hard going; ptarmigan tracks plentiful; at 3 halted used up; crawled into a hole in the bank; Alexy in quest of game; nothing for supper except a spoonful of glycerine; all hands weak and feeble, but cheerful; God help us.

Tuesday, 11th—Gale with snow; unable to move; no game; one spoonful of glycerine and hot water for food; no more wood in our tent.

WEAKER AND WEAKER.

Wednesday, 12th—Breakfast on last spoonful of glycerine and hot water, and for dinner a couple of handfuls of Arctic willow in a pot of water, and drank the infusion; every day getting weaker and weaker, and hardly able to get firewood; gale with snow.

Thursday, 13th—Willow tea; no news from Ninderman; we are in the hands of God, and unless He relents we are lost; staying here means starvation; afternoon went ahead for a mile; after crossing another river missed Lee; went down in a hole in a bank and camped; sent back for Lee; he had laid down and was waiting to die; all united in saying the Lord's Prayer and cried; after supper a hard gale of wind; a horrible night.

Friday, 14th—Breakfast on willow tea; dinner, half a teaspoonful of sweet oil and willow tea; Alexy shot one ptarmidge; had soup; wind moderated.

Saturday, October 15.—Breakfast of willow tea and two old boots; concluded to move at sunrise; Alexy breaks down; also Lee; came to an empty grain raft hole and camp; signs of smoke at twilight at southward.

DEATH OF ALEXY.

Sunday, October 16.—Alexy broke down; divine service.

Monday.—Alexy dying; doctor baptised him and read prayer for the sick; Mr. Collins' birthday, forty years old; about sunset Alexy died of starvation; covered him with ensign and laid him in crib.

Tuesday—Calm and mild; snow falling; buried Alexy in afternoon; laid him on the ice and covered him with slabs of ice.

Wednesday—Cutting up tent to make foot-gear; Doctor went ahead to find new camp; shifted by dark.

Thursday—Bright and sunny, but very cold; Lee and Knack done up.

Friday—Knack was found dead about midnight between the Doctor and myself; Lee died about noon; read prayers for Knack when we found him.

Saturday—Drossler died during the night.

Tuesday, October 30th, 140th day—Boyd and Gorth died during the night; Mr. Collins dying. [Note. This is the end of De Long's diary.]

De Long, Surgeon Ambler and Ah Sam, the cook, must have died soon after the last note was written.

An Odd Fellow's Reception.

NEW YORK, June 26.

A reception was tendered Thursday night to W. H. Barnes, Past Grand Master of Odd Fellows of the State of New York and now resident of San Francisco, by Odd Fellows of Brooklyn at the Institute on Washington street. There was present quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen who warmly greeted him. Mr. Barnes, when conducted to the platform, delivered a short address in which he referred to some of his experiences on the Pacific slope and expressed his thanks for the cordial reception which had been tendered to him in Brooklyn. Music was furnished by the Atlantic quartette; refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was devoted to songs and social recreation.

Barnes left for San Francisco yesterday.

The notes say: "117th day. Breakfast consisted of the last half pound of dog meat and tea."

THE LAST GRAIN OF TEA.

Was put in the kettle, and we are now about to undertake a journey of twenty-five miles with some old tea leaves and two quarts of alcohol. However, I trust in God, and I believe that He who has fed us thus far will not suffer us to die of want." The party left the hut. They got under way at 8:30 A. M., and proceeded until 11:20 A. M., by which time they had made about three miles, and were pretty well done up. They had half an ounce of alcohol in a pot of tea; went ahead and soon struck what seemed to be the main river again. Here four of the party broke through the ice in trying to cross. Fearing frost-bite a fire was built. Alexy was sent forward to look for food, but directed not to go far nor stay long. He came back at 5:30 with one ptarmigan, of which soup was made, and with it and half an ounce of alcohol they made their supper.

Saturday, October 8th, the notes say: Called all hands at 5:30. Breakfast fast of half an ounce of alcohol and a pint of hot water; went ahead until 10:30, and after five miles struck the big river again; have to turn back; only made an advance of one mile; a cold camp; but little wood and half an ounce of alcohol.

Sunday, 9th—All hands up at 4:30; half an ounce of alcohol; read divine service; sent Ninderman and Norris ahead for relief; they started at 7; cheered them under way; at 8 crossed the creek; broke through the ice; all went up to knees; dried clothing and under way again at 10:30; at 1 struck the river bank; halted for dinner on Bodega reef, and will probably be a total loss. There is seven feet of water in the hold, and she is rolling heavily. The crew were saved by a schooner.

To the Point.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.

A telegram to the Merchants' Exchange says the British ship Lammermoor, Captain Duncan, from Sydney for San Francisco, is ashore on Bodega reef, and will probably be a total loss. There is seven feet of water in the hold, and she is rolling heavily. The crew were saved by a schooner.

Telephone War.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.

Professor Godding, Superintendent of the Government Insane Asylum, has written the following letter to a gentleman, who desired his opinion of Guiteau:

You are very welcome to my opinion of Charles J. Guiteau's mental condition, though in the present state of the public mind it will not have much weight. Guiteau went insane in his nineteenth year, and has been so ever since, though there have been times of comparative mental quietness, as there have been periods of greater excitement. He was born mentally deformed—very keen and quick in some directions, but deficient in common sense. His unnatural egotism is also congenial to his religious ideas. Now, within three weeks of his final appearance before the public, he is not cast down, but serene and content, and will, in my opinion, go through whatever remains for him in the same confident, not to say triumphant, manner. He cannot understand how it is that men who have "made" should desert him. He believes he saved the Republican party and the country from civil war. He is not done looking "to the great American people" for redress. Though his diseased eyes watch now for executive clemency, at last they will turn away from that and will look up with steadfast gaze on what he will believe to be a martyr's crown. As the legal supports on which he has relied fall away, he will still feel, or think he feels, underneath him everlasting arms. Going where our indignation cannot follow him, may we hope that those arms are there, for no poor wretch in all God's universe apparently needs them more. To human apprehension he is covered with blasphemy, claiming to be "God's man," and paralleling his life of sin with that of the sinless, stating that "crucifixion" is worse than hanging, and believing that it is enough that the despicable be as his Master. Do you shudderingly say it is horrible? I say it is insanity.

Guiteau's Appeal to a Higher Court.

WASHINGTON, June 26.

Guiteau said to Dr. Hicks: "Don't go to President Arthur any more. Let him come to you. I have nothing more to ask of him. If he has irreconcilably decided, I appeal to a higher court. God will judge between him and me." Three suspicious-looking persons were at the jail last night. They were very anxious to be admitted.

Sale of Horned Stock.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 27.

The annual horn sales at the farm of A. J. Alexander began Saturday. The imported cow Thorndale Rose, by Sixth Duke of Oneida, brought $5,600. Another Thorndale Rose brought $4,000. Others brought good prices. Bulls averaged $1,373; cows, $597.

FOREIGN.

Egyptian Matters.

SALT LAKE, June 27.

It is reported here that Greek money-lenders were murdered in Cairo Sunday.

The English delegate has been ordered to withdraw from the commission appointed to inquire into the recent riots.

It is stated that the captain of the U. S. steamer Galena has served notice on all American residents that the Galena is ready to receive them, and they now remain in Egypt at their own risk.

There was a forced sale of £500,000 Egyptian unified after official hours yesterday.

The office on Monday issued orders for 20,000 arms and accoutrements, to be ready in four days, with a view, it is believed, of calling out the army reserve within three days.

ALEXANDRIA, June 27.

The Khedive held a grand reception to-day in celebration of the anniversary of his accession to power. The patriarch and diplomatic corps attended, and the foreign men-of-war in harbor exchanged salutes with the English.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 27.

The first sitting of the conference last night was a success. The only differences manifested were with reference to the contingency of military occupation and to financial control. In the sitting on Sunday, during discussion of the rights of the Sultan over Egypt, a tendency was manifested to confirm those rights on a basis precluding the idea of Egypt again becoming a Turkish province.

The Reno White House is one of the best clothing stores west of the Rocky Mountains, and a credit to the town as well as the enterprising firm who manage it. The stock is fresh, complete and of the latest styles.

I keep that wonderful medicine, St. Jacobs Oil, both at my home and office, and esteem it, without any exception, the most efficacious remedy in the world for rheumatism, etc., says Supt. O'Neill, of the Dominion Police, Ottawa, Canada.

At P. Toll's auction and furniture room can be found a first-class stock of goods. Mr. Toll is building up a good business and making many friends. Those in need of anything in the furniture line will do well to give Mr. Toll a call, for he is sure to give his customers a good bargain.

Pieces of Meat in Reno.

A GAZETTE reporter haled butcher Kelly this morning to see if he knew anything, when the man of blood relieved himself as follows: "Beef 8 cents a pound, veal 9 cents, mutton 6 cents, Spring lamb $2 spiece, hard dressed pork 10 cents. Dern the Reno butcher business, I'm going to Chicago, where beef is worth two bits a pound."

Having a Good Time.

The boys who went out with Conklin's surveying party are having a fine time in the Shoshone mountains. They are as fat and saucy as Newfoundland pups, and brown as Piutes. Their muscles have become hardened to the rough work, so that a forty-mile jaunt has no terror for them now.

A Fishy Fact.

A few days ago a man caught a 16-pound trout at Pyramid Lake. Inside the trout was a 4 pound sucker, and in the sucker was a half pound chub. Singular to say, there was nothing inside the chub but worms. This is no fish story. It is an actual fact.

PERSONALS.

Tom Kennedy has gone to Bodie. John M. May of Boston, is registered at the Depot.

Dr. Bergman had an imperative call to Wadsworth this morning.

Dr. D. G. Simmons and family of Sacramento went east this morning.

E. T. Bender of the First National Bank is quite ill and confined to the house.

J. C. Harlow, editor of the Carson Appeal, passed Reno last evening bound for tide-water.

E. B. Matthews, the well-known commercial traveler, left here for California and way ports this morning.

J. Minor Taylor, chief clerk of the Con. Virginia and California Mining companies, was in town this morning.

Wm. P. Pratt, formerly connected with the Gold Hill News, came down from the Comstock last night and left for Denver, accompanied by his wife.

It is reported that John W. Mackay will arrive on the evening train. And it is also said that he has not yet left New York.

E. R. Smith, the well-known lumberman, was in Reno yesterday attending to the adjustment of his loss by the burning of the Verdi mill. Mr. Smith says he is yet undecided as to what they will do about building their mill.

Ox-Tail Soup.

The case of Raphael vs. Olinghouse, lately on trial in the District Court, from which a judgment issued in favor of Raphael for nearly $5,000, promises to occupy more of Judge King's attention before it is settled.

Raphael, after obtaining judgment attached a large band of cattle belonging to Olinghouse, and running on his range near Mud Lake, Humboldt county. The cattle were advertised to be sold yesterday at 12 o'clock at Mud Lake, and the sale took place on time.

At 11:30 yesterday S. Arnstein, agent for Olinghouse, appeared at the County Clerk's office and satisfied judgment by paying the coin. Who owns the cattle?

Belling Crickets.

The Modoc Independent says: Some parties from the lower end of the valley told us the other day of a new and excellent plan for exterminating the crickets. When a large drove of them made their appearance in the vicinity of the hot spring, the neighbors turned out and succeeded in driving them into the boiling water. A cricket will live for 24 hours in cold water, but the hot water was too much for them, and they succumbed to its heating influence, and were effectually cooked.

If all the crickets in the country could be gathered together at that point, we would be permanently relieved from their disastrous visits.

On the Move.

A covered emigrant wagon, containing a man and woman and a nest of young ones, went through the streets this morning and struck out over the Carson road. Behind the wagon were three plump and solid-looking girls on horseback, presenting quite a cavalcade and attracting considerable attention. The most remarkable thing about the juveniles in the wagon, besides their cherry-red noses, was the apparent evenness in their size and age. They looked as if they were all born at the same time. The outfit was fleeing from Plumas grasshoppers and Modoc crickets.

An Afternoon's Sport.

The fair-ground programme will be a very interesting feature of the day's sport on the Fourth. The running and trotting races which will take place immediately after the exercises are over in town will be closely contested and interesting; the brass band contest will attract much attention; and the ladies' tournament, as usual, will attract a large number of the friends of the ladies. Mr. Jose has taken a deep interest in arranging a programme to entertain visitors and is deserving of much credit. The entertainment at the track gives every one a chance to enjoy themselves all day.

Kinkaid's Mill.

The mill that has been in course of construction at Fraser's foundry for the past week will be completed tonight and will be set in motion tomorrow upon the hardest rock to be obtained, in order to give the apparatus a fair chance to show what it will do. If it will grind the washed gravel about the foundry it will wash anything that may be fed to it. Considerable interest is manifested in the trial test of this new grinder. If it does its work well it will be the handiest and cheapest mill ever got up.

Try It.

"I like it better than any remedy I have ever used, because it leaves my bowels in better condition," is the remark made by every one when referring to Syrup of Figs. That is one of the principal reasons why Syrup of Figs is taking the place of all the liver medicines and nauseous cathartics heretofore used. Try it. R. E. Queen druggist, Virginia street.

District Court.

The case of Stephens vs. Whistler was on trial yesterday and to-day, involving the title to a tract of land on the meadows. Boardman & Alexander are attorneys for plaintiff and Cain & Webster for defendant.

CORPUS CHRISTI.

How the Spanish Ceremony Struck an Intelligent Tourist.

A correspondent of the Reno Gazette at Santa Barbara gives the following interesting description of Spanish Catholic services:

Those Christians who are not used to hearing their religion punctuated with gunpowder and mixed up with brass bands, would have found a contrarian spectacle at the Franciscan Monastery of Santa Barbara on this Corpus Christi day. After the celebration of High Mass in this antique mission, dim with religious light, grotesque in its mural paintings, adorned with realistic pictures of purgatory and hell, and with figures of Christ, the Virgin, St. Joseph, etc., procession was formed. It consisted, first, of a company of young girls, dressed in white and with white lace veils over their heads, shrouding their faces like nuns, and falling to their feet. These walked backwards, strewing flowers on the path the priests were to tread. Next to them came seven small boys, clad in red frocks or skirts, that of the leader being satin while the rest were of a coarse serge. A white tunic covered the skirts. Each of these carried lighted candles, two being in large brass candlesticks and the rest in lanterns stuck on the tops of painted poles. Then came a lay brother, bareheaded, and dressed in the gray frock of the service at this shrine is ended.

Father Sanchez takes the Host again. The girls proceed to scatter more flowers on the path to the next shrine and the procession moves on. A woman takes the image of Jesus and some men quickly gather up the carpets on which the priests had knelt, and carry them to the next shrine. There are three of these shrines, and all having been visited with the same ceremonies, the procession slowly winds its way back to the Cathedral.

Father Sanchez takes the Host again. The girls proceed to scatter more flowers on the path to the next shrine and the procession moves on. A woman takes the image of Jesus and some men quickly gather up the carpets on which the priests had knelt, and carry them to the next shrine. There are three of these shrines, and all having been visited with the same ceremonies, the procession slowly winds its way back to the Cathedral.

Just as the slow procession, having filed down the aisle, reached the door of the cathedral, the jangling bells and clanging brass band, with the beat of drums broke forth, and unenlightened Protestants were startled by the booming of cannon close by. The scene at this moment was picturesque and quaint. From the porch of the church there is a grand outlook over the town of Santa Barbara to the blue and placid waters whose background is the Channel Islands, curtained with fog. The rugged and sunburned Santa Ynez range lifts its lofty barrier wall upon the east: the sloping vineyards of the mesa rise upon the west. Low, one-story adobe houses crowned with red tiles, abandoned olive groves, dilapidated reservoirs and the once beautiful fountain—these were in the foreground. Immediately around and under the shadow of the massive walls was a swarthy crowd, tinting up from the full darkness of the Indian to the lighter hues of our own race. In some the coarse, straight black hair came low down over the eyes, leaving little forehead and less temples; old wrinkled crones, muffled up in black shawls which swathed their heads, necks and shoulders, used only at home to squatting on raw hides, had risen from the cathedral floor and now peered at the host as if it were a real miracle. Girls, mature at 12, and whose good looks had all gone at 20, dames, all powdered and portly at thirty—old men serious and young men nonchalant, and a sprinkling of babies, made up the crowd.

So the day closes, with the conviction that one half the world don't know what the other half believe. To us the whole was a childish mimicry—while to them it expressed, by outward act, a reverential feeling, and led them, perhaps, from sensual things to spiritual ones.
